Looking for Scrap Books

Pyramid Hill & District Society Inc. is working on a book of WW 2 to be launched on Anzac Day 2017.
It has been researched by Adam Elliott as part of his occupational therapy while working in the Solomon Islands, New Guinea and Gilbert Islands and he is now back in Pyramid Hill.
During WW 2 there was a paper shortage and we are lucky that the Pyramid Hill Advertiser survived. Mr. A J Williams was the editor/owner and worked himself to the bone. Thank you A J for the wonderful legacy but when the paper was copied by the State Library they did not open it out and so only half an item can be read.
I have enclosed a great story about a group of airmen escaping from Singapore after the Fall of Singapore written by Gordon Butterworth.
If your mum, dad or grandparents kept a scrap book of war stories from the Pyramid Hill Advertiser, and you would loan it to the Museum so we can do our job properly, it would be appreciated.
Contact M Williamson 54557192 or at the Museum in McKay St on Tuesdays 9.30 am to 2pm

Gordon Butterworth’s Escape from Singapore

Gordon Butterworth’s Return Home

There was a happy reunion last Wednesday, when Leading Aircraftman Gordon Butterworth arrived home after a period of adventurous service in Singapore. Despite the perilous and nerve wracking boat journey home from Java, the young Aussie looked pretty fit after hospital treatment in Perth and he was given a warm welcome home by friends.
We had a few minutes’ interview with Gordon and found him somewhat reluctant to talk about the journey, evidently acting under orders.

Gordon’s duties were mainly at Singapore. He said the Japs made out to be more friendly disposed to the Australians than the military forces and over the radio, initially advised them to fly back - pretty cunning propaganda on the Jap’s part to create internal hope among the Imperial troops and they were audacious enough to try the Aussies at times when we might expect an attack! There is humour in one outstanding incident recited by Gordon. On a particular evening they would fly over an airfield to drop off musicians and the girls to dance with, and that gave them a happy time.
Sure when the raids came - the heaviest campaign - some of the units made out to catch the girls as they floated down, but instead of girls they were bombs in a terrible blitz. With devastating peppering, two men were killed, sit forming an effective shelter. The result was, however, sad for Gordon, for one of the two was an Aussie he had paled up with from the time of landing in Singapore. In keeping it was just a chance that kept Gordon from manning the gun as such his pal met his death.
The position becoming untenable at the airfield a few days before the fall of Singapore, the order was given for them to make their way home the best way they could. Then the fun started.

Pyramid Hill Night Netball

This week's matches saw Green take on Purple at 7pm. In was a hard fought first half and became a shoot out between the Hampson's with some good shooting at both ends. At three quarter time the teams were only separated by 1 goal. The Purple team lifted their tempo in the last quarter to run out winners 35-27 and consolidate top spot on the ladder.

In the 8pm game Red and Blue took to the court. The Blue team jumped out of the blocks and had opened up a handy lead by half time. In the second half the scores were a lot closer and if it wasn't for the Red GK scoring goals for Blue they may have built some momentum. Even with the Red teams dead eye goal shooter the Blue team ran out with the win 42-20.

Next week’s matches see Blue v Green at 7pm and Purple v Pink at 8pm. Red have the bye.

The trials of it all! The season has not quite kicked off and we’ve already hit a wall… just a little obstacle. Our first night of practice was washed out. Fancy that!! Last year the heat was an issue, now we are challenged with the moisture. Still, the rain is very welcomed, so missing a preliminary session of bowls is really low on the Richter scale. However, Thursday afternoon 4:30pm practice should now feature prominently on the calendar for all members, weather permitting. Please try to make it a priority to get into the groove and get into the swing of things in readiness for Pennant.

60 And Over: The 60 & over comp for the senior gents otherwise known as the “dead chook run, got off to a timely start last week. Our lads, Andy, Ernie and Alan J., were forced to recruit a substitute player for the first round which was a bit sad and hopefully not an omen for the season. They were not able to notch up a win in any of the three games, but there is no need to despair – they were probably just warming up- and will ascend to greater heights in the weeks to come.

Bowls Information Booklets: Booklets, with nice bright orange covers, are now available for all members. There are a few items of pertinent information that folk should familiarise themselves with – in particular, the data included inside the front and back covers. Please ensure you peruse the contents of the book before storing it in a safe place.

Memberships: Players are asked to forward their memberships to Lionel as soon as possible. Membership fees remain as they were last year ($100).

Gordon Butterworth’s Escape contd.

As they contrived to land at hang in Sumatra, and by the journeying they got to .... Being in a desperate situation he was elected to commandeer a coastal steamer which lay in port, with a native crew. The boat was boarded by close on ....all eager to risk a voyage to Australia and can be imagined there was considerable over ..... above and below deck. They were not all Australians and some of the famous Scottish regiments were among the voyagers.

They had the boat, but they had to get into sailing trim, and none were naval men! Those who knew about engines went below and others familiar with the compass others at steering, Gordon became one to take a hand at the steering. He smiling acknowledges relief that the steamer was often of a direct course once in the wide ocean.

The first day or two in the narrow canals between the islands were thrills of a lifetime. They by smashed vessels, there was the constant fear of submarines, floating mines and uncharted....

Once they were spotted by a lop plane and waited for an attack, nothing eventuated.

The boat was capable of 12 knots at its best. Once it stopped when we were in extremely dangerous waters and the cry went up” get out and push!”

Gordon said their only fare was good old army rations- bully beef and biscuits. When setting out they calculated the coal would give them seven days’ steaming. They arrived in Perth in just 11 days. The gallant company broke evens. It was the greatest race of their life. There was great excitement when they sighted port. Most had everything and had to be relayed on shore.

Gordon arrived spic and span in new uniform. His mother says her cooking will quickly shade bully beef and biscuit out of sight before the Airmans’ 14 day leave ends. All his friends wish Gordon Butterworth a pleasant holiday before he reports back to duty again.

More flowers needed for Fiesta

Thank you to those who came and made paper flowers at our first workshop. It was great to see some of our youth willing to lend a hand, and creative flair was demonstrated by all, with flowers of all varieties (and some not yet discovered!)

We need more flowers, and they still need to be attached to the hoops. You are invited to our next workshop, at the Senior Citizens Clubrooms,

Sunday morning 10 am - 12

Pyramid Hill Amateur Basketball Association

The Basketball meeting held this week had just five people in attendance.

There are just enough names for the junior years competition - Prep -Year 5.

More names are needed if the Year 6 - Under 18 age group is to run.

Umpires and coaches are needed for both groups before the competition is able to commence.

We need more parents to attend the meetings and take on committee roles, as our current members no longer have children involved.

A meeting will be held next Tuesday, 13th September at PHC at 7 pm.

If people do not attend this meeting the Basketball competition will not run this year.

The Farming for Sustainable Soils project is funded by the Australian Government’s National Landcare Programme.

Speaker - Sustainable Soils
Integrated Pest Management Workshop which will be dealing with ways of managing agricultural pests such as insects, in a sustainable manner.
The speaker for the day will be Neil Hives, an IPM consultant with a Masters degree in Entomology from Latrobe university. Neil has been doing IPM in broad acre cropping for 12 years, mostly in southern and western Victoria, but also some work in drier areas. Neil lays claim to being the most field experienced broad acre IPM consultant around. He also runs a beef farm in central Victoria, where he applies the IPM strategies to cereals, pastures and fodder crops.
Neil will be outlining a framework for an Integrated pest management approach to pest control, and linking this to the otherwise forgotten invertebrates that contribute to soil health via recycling nutrients. The day will begin with an indoor session, then after lunch we will head out into the paddocks to try out some sampling techniques, and then discuss what we have found and what is going on.
